DETAILED INFORMATION

---

Model History

---

Regulator has a well established reputation for building some of the very finest center consoles available with a "Legendary" rough water ride that is truly something special. Designed to handle the unforgiving waters found off of the North Carolina coast, the Regulator hull features a 24 degree deadrise, exaggerated bow flare and rock solid overbuilt construction where more fiberglass gives you a heavier boat for a more comfortable rough water ride.

The 32 FS (Forward Seating) was introduced in 1999 and was the largest boat that Regulator had built to date. They incorporated a new stern design with an interrogated fiberglass transom, which was a departure from the aluminum Armstrong transom bracket that they had been using to mount the engines to the stern on most previous models. The boat remained in production for almost 10 years and was replaced by an all-new 34CC in the 2009 model year.
