Major Features

- • Open floorplan. The Sundancer 460 is designed to flow from space to space with the sunroom and cockpit being connected by sliding glass doors, and the stairs to the lower cabin falling under the open-atrium effect of the helm. The cockpit has steps leading to wide-pathway access to the bow, all of which creates separate areas all unified to be one space.
- • Full-beam master stateroom. She is rated to sleep four-to-six people, and the highlight of those accommodations is the master stateroom. It has a queen-size berth with innerspring mattress, storage, private head, a setee to starboard, and 32" HD TV all standard.
- • Aft galley. A gourmet-ready galley is handy to both the cockpit and the salon. The solid-surface countertop with stainless steel sink and faucet sits to port in an L-shape with a microwave, two-burner stove, and storage cabinets in cedar. Across to starboard is more counter space that lifts to reveal storage, as well as a double-wide refrigerator and freezer next to a wine locker.
- • Sunroof. Situated above the helm is a large, retractable sunroof that rolls back and opens nearly half the ceiling space up to the sun.
- • Wood flooring in salon and galley. The option exists to upgrade both the cockpit and aft swim platform decks to teak, but standard in the Sundancer 460 is decking, which is stain and moisture resistant as well as having a "grip" that curtails slipping.

Cockpit Seating Area

The cockpit area is purely a gathering space. It has an L-shaped seating bank on the starboard side with a smaller two-person seat on portside facing aft.

The aft seat portion of the L-shape is actuated and can slide back to increase the deck space by as much as 16" (40.6 cm). An electric retractable sun shade that covers the entire cockpit is an option.

Exclusions

Owner's personal belongings.
