DETAILED INFORMATION

OVERVIEW

The Sanlorenzo SL86 was designed to optimize and maximize all spaces, while enriching the interior areas with natural light. The sheer line amid ship is cut to let the enlarged side windows catch as much light as possible, allowing guests enjoy the view even while sitting in the salon. The new 27-meter motoryacht is an Officina Italian Design collaboration, its innovative features are set to establish a new standard for the entire Sanlorenzo range of planing hull yachts. The bow is now a living space with sofas, table, sunbathing cushions, and a removable sail cover awning. Up top, the flybridge is expanded into a generous sunbathing and entertaining area, thanks to a tender garage at the transom and hydraulic lift swim platform.

This particular SL86 Americas Edition is a modern, tranquil interpretation of the designers love of the sea. This décor features richly finished and stained Eucalyptus woods with textured wide planked flooring interplayed with walls upholstered with a quilted gathered leather arranged in a dynamic pattern. Classic furniture shapes and timeless references are invigorated by carving, color and sheen creating a seafaring sanctuary that is light filled and bold. Quartzite Carrara marble in a honed finish provides a dramatic yet resilient cladding material for the heads on board.

A forward salon bulkhead becomes an extraordinary focal point featuring a backlit stone panel that has been hand carved out of Carrara marble from the mountains surrounding the shipyard. Light penetrates and passes through the natural luminosity of the Carrara revealing its incredible beauty and displaying unexpected colors as it returns a soft and suffused light to the surroundings.
