"CAT-ATUDE" is an EXCELLENT EXAMPLE of an Very Well maintained and equipped Two Owner Manta 40. Known for their above average build quality and sailing characteristics Manta catamarans enjoy an excellent reputation and a fiercely loyal owner's group. Check out Full Specs for all the details and much, much more....

Here's what Cruising World had to say about the Manta 40 Sail Catamaran:

"Among the more comfortable new cruising catamarans to make 1996 debuts, the impressive Manta 40 consolidates roomy accommodations, refined deck systems and first-rate construction.

At 40 feet, the hulls are long and sleek enough to counteract visually the freeboard required for volume below. The fine, plumb bows, cutting a strikingly delicate wake, are spanned by a composite beam that supports port and starboard foredeck trampolines and ties structurally into the decks. The bridge deck's rounded pod is fit with wraparound portlights forward. Our test boat was equipped with a "Radar Arch/Hardtop/Dinghy Davit Pac," featuring a welded, anodized-aluminum Bimini structure and davits for a sizable tender. The superstructure is substantial, but suits the boat's cruising agenda.

Construction is fastidious, benefiting from the experience of Manta's Pat Reischmann who has been involved in state-of-the-art composite technology since it first began to change the face of boatbuilding. All elements of the boat are vacuum bagged. Hull, deck and bulkheads utilize a varying schedule of traxial, biaxial and unidirectional cloth applied with isophthalic and vinylester resins. Below the waterline, the hulls feature solid glass and vinylester; above the waterline and in the deck, Nida-Core polypropylene honeycomb reduces weight and increases stiffness and strength....."
