DETAILED INFORMATION

Information

Recent History

Boat was purchased as a project boat about a year ago. Seller has redone the electrical and plumbing. The upholstery on both the interior and exterior is new, The bottom paint is new and the hull has new paint as well.

He had the engines and the generator completely gone through by a marine mechanic and they are in great running order. The Air Conditioning works but has not been tested in the water. It will probably need serviced before running it continuously in the summer heat.

Seller has new plans and is looking for all reasonable offers. Regardless of the low asking price she is being sold as water ready.

Overview

Introduced as the 3450 Avanti Sunbridge in 1987; for 1988-99 she was called the 3485; and in 1990 (when she gained a new integrated swim platform) she was known as the 3785. She was considered “racy” in the late 1980s with her bold graphics, raked arch and Med-style bow rail.

Built on a beamy modified-V hull, the mid-cabin floor plan is arranged with a

U-shaped galley opposite the galley in the salon. A privacy door separates the forward stateroom from the salon, definitely a plus, and there's enough room in the aft stateroom for two adults.

On deck, a settee opposite the helm provides guest seating, and additional. Hatches in the aft cockpit floor provide good access to the engines and V-drive units. Standard 330hp gas engines cruise the Avanti around 20 knots with a top speed of 27-28 knots.
