DETAILED INFORMATION

Main Description

For thirty years Ocean Alexander and Ed Monk, Jr. have worked together perfecting hull manufacturing, woodworking and system design to build one of the finest quality yachts available. Come see why Ocean Alexanders are known for engineering, luxury, performance and safety. "Sheena" is built on a modified-V hull with a shallow keel that offers some prop protection. This boat has the optional Caterpillar diesels.

Accommodations

Entering from the swim platform through transom door into the cock pit you have access to the sidedecks with molded fiberglass steps. The aft bulkhead affords ample natural light into salon with double sliding doors. The salon has a very open and airy feel with the expansive windows on port and starboard covered with wood blinds. The interior is completely carpeted with upgraded bound carpeting throughout the vessel. The U-shape galley is forward and offers ample counter and storage space and all the amenities of the kitchen at home including dishwasher and garbage disposal. Continuing forward on starboard up three steps to pilothouse with starboard access to sidedeck; plenty of room for laying out charts and ample U shaped seating for dining. Continuing forward and down on starboard to sleeping compartments with master stateroom forward and guest cabins on port and starboard aft. The guest head is located and accessed from the companionway. Both heads have Vacu-Flush head systems. The stacked washer dryer is accessed from the starboard stateroom. Returning to the pilothouse and up steps to covered flybridge with ample seating and easy access to navigational gear. On aft deck there is ample room for the 12' sailing dinghy and davit.
