DETAILED INFORMATION

Manufacturer Provided Description

In one form or another, the Mako 171 has been around from the beginning. She's been around and she's done a lot: from a Florida bonefish flat to casting for bluefish off Massachusetts or plugging the sod banks of New Jersey. The 171 performs equally well for the angler, skier and diver. The 171 is packed with fishing features like vertical console rod storage and built-in drink holders; a large casting deck with storage underneath; a livewell and under-gunnel rod storage. Her square transom keeps everyone close to the fishing action and allows for maximum use of interior space. She is stable, foam-filled and self-bailing. She carries 35 gallons of fuel and is rated to 135 horsepower, yet performs beautifully and is an unbeatable value with a lighter engine. Easy to trailer, easy to maintain, and with great fuel efficiency, she's trimmed with Mako quality throughout.
