Manufacturer Provided Description

Other builders offer raised salon and pilothouse cruisers, but the Tartan 4400 comes with two things you won't find elsewhere: Luxurious Tartan styling, and unmatched Tartan performance. Whether your cruising plans call for weekend or weeks-long cruising, or for living aboard for the season or forever, the Tartan 4400 will indulge you with an abundance of comfort and convenience. We start with furniture-grade solid cherry joinerwork, satin-varnished to perfection, then add your choice of designer fabrics all set off with lighting we've designed that adjusts to suit your mood, whether at work or play. Additionally, the two staterooms have a surfeit of clothes drawers and hanging locker space, shelves in the right places, room to dress, and space in which to enjoy a quiet moment. The Tartan 4400 interior is a gem, but because Tartan owners enjoy owning a yacht that is not only beautifully appointed but sails right by other cruisers, we've incorporated our trademark mix of passagemaking speed and reassuring stability into the 4400. The 5-foot 6-inch, draft 9,000-pound Beavertail bulb keel gives the 4400 sail-carrying power and stability. A deep, elliptical-shaped balanced spade rudder means instant response and tight maneuvering ability. And the 4400's double-spreader masthead sailplan is as powerful as it is easy to handle, with all sail controls led to the security of the cockpit.
