Overview

S/V Sail Away

The Catalina 34 is an ideal performance cruiser for Bay or Coastal cruising. She is responsive with an accommodating interior at a great value. She has crisp clean lines and sturdy construction with a solid hull.

Make an appointment to see Sail Away if you are looking for safety, performance, comfort and enjoyment at a very reasonable price.

The layout features a V-berth cabin forward followed by the main saloon with starboard side dinette and port side settee. The galley is aft along the starboard side, and there is a good-sized head along the port side next to the companionway. The master cabin is aft along the starboard side and features an athwartship double berth tucked below the cockpit.

For the sailor looking for a comfortable, affordable boat with coastal cruising, weekendening and day sailing in mind, the Catalina 34 would be an excellent choice.

Take a look at these pictures, and you will want to come see this boat soon. Someone is going to get a good deal on a fine sailing boat!

DETAILED INFORMATION

Overview

Accommodations

This Catalina 34 is a perfect cruising sailboat for the Chesapeake Bay or coastal waters. It is built solid, yet provides plenty of room and comfort.

The layout of this boat was ahead of its time for 1986, with two full cabins with doors for privacy and a sizable central head. There is a nice large dinette to starboard and large settee to port; both of these can convert to sleeping areas.

The galley includes a double sink, a two burner stove on gimbals, and a sizable ice box. The ice box is electric and can run on either 12 volt boat power or 120 volt shore power.

The head includes a marine toilet, shower floor pump, and sink with pull out shower.
