Outdoor/Indoor Space

- Her sleek and assertive line is emphasized by the extraordinary, dominating flybridge.
- Large convivial space, totally open on the sea.
- At the front, the sunbathing platform extends the leisure and open-air relaxation area.
- At the rear, the large hydraulic platform allows the easy storage of the dinghy or jet ski and altogether more enjoyable access to the water.
- Barbecue fans can enjoy an outdoor kitchen at this level. In the cockpit, there is the option of a crew cabin or a large storage locker.
- The continuity between the outdoor and indoor space is provided by the sliding door which disappears from view completely. The main deck then becomes just one living space, all on the same level.
- The kitchen is located at the center of the interaction spaces, on the main deck, right by the entrance on the left. Careful attention has been paid to the finishes.
- Colors have been matched in a variety of grey and all materials carefully selected, with a Corian worktop and lacquered furniture in light taupe.
- The saloon can be found further towards the wheelhouse. With a layout comprising two facing spaces, it is designed for get-togethers and sharing.

Engines

- "Lady Susan" translates into elegance, refinement, and quality. Her slim bow hull has been designed to sail in all sea conditions, thereby ensuring a safe passage.
- Purposely drawn to take a Volvo IPS engine, the MC5 offers a choice between the IPS 500 and 600. The perfect combination of the hull and selected engine make the MC5 an enjoyable and comfortable boat to sail.

On Board

- The wheelhouse enjoys the very latest equipment in terms of technology. The soft, wet-look leather pilot seat (optional) has been purposely designed. The single-piece windscreen offers incredible visibility.

- The air-conditioning circulates on both levels through the ceilings, giving a consistent temperature throughout the boat.
- Onboard, everything has been thoroughly thought through: the choice of materials, light openings, the balance of colors and textures. Nothing is left to chance. Every detail counts and this is what makes the MC5 so luxurious and elegant.
- The finish is faultless: Soft Touch brushed wood on the angles, wet-look leather. Part of the furniture is upholstered with vegetal tanned leather, carefully polished on top by hand.

Accommodations

- Because the MC5 should be a jewel in the eyes of its owner, the 2016 edition of the cruiser yacht has been designed with a variety of Walnut stained woodwork. This colored wood creates a completely new atmosphere, offering contrasts that will bring out features inside your boat and give it character.
- Married with a brown soft-touch finish, colored padded lining, and bronze highlights, this new cabinetwork proposal makes the MC5 particularly chic and attractive.
- This new choice between the elegant and contemporary light or dark brushed Oak and a cozy Walnut ambiance, illuminates the interior living spaces of the MC5 giving them a new atmosphere. It demonstrates Monte Carlo's constant desire to extend the possibilities for personalizing their boats.
- The night space consists of 3 cabins, all designed to offer an individual feel, whilst maintaining overall harmony in shades of grey. The master cabin and VIP cabin are fitted with ensuite shower-rooms in which the combination of materials, transparency, stainless steel, grey brushed oak, and lacquered solid woods emphasize the elegance and refinement everywhere else on the boat. The full-width master cabin is located to the rear and is flooded with natural light streaming through two large portholes.
- The VIP cabin is located to the fore. Comfort is provided by the two large panoramic portholes on either side. It is very spacious and incredibly bright. The guest cabin includes 2 superimposed beds. Each bed enjoys its own porthole.
- Volumes, Comfort, and Style are the main MC5 features. It stands for the same elegance and the same values conveyed by the Monte Carlo Yachts. Discover its Classic, Forward style
