Overview

Adagio is the next generation evolution model of the very popular and proven Selene Ocean Trawler. It features the Deep-Hull design and Cruiser Stern which improves headroom in the engine room, lazarette and makes the hull even more efficient than its predecessor. This Selene is a particularly well kept vessel and is an authentic blue water cruiser, incorporating a wrap-around deck, interior flybridge access, raised pilothouse and Portuguese bridge. The covered upper helm includes generous space for entertaining friends and family. As always, with a Selene, this design allows for ample room on the aft deck for a dinghy and hydraulic crane. The main salon is luxuriously finished in solid teak. Built-in seating features a starboard loveseat and an L-shaped dinette for four to port. The elegant, but practical center layout U-shaped galley/entertainment island abounds with generous storage. Sliding panels and hidden doors reveal a flat screen tv and complete sets of crystal stemware. Of course, you'd expect nothing less than luxurious and high end appointments in a Selene. The two stateroom accommodations below are airy and spacious due to the full hull sections forward. The master stateroom has a queen-size island berth with teak and holly steps on both sides, plus two large cedar-lined hanging lockers. The second stateroom acts as a convertible, multi-use room until the guests arrive. Then, it's easy to pull the folding door back, lock down the fittings and you have a private crew quarters. Each stateroom has its own ensuite with granite countertop, electric toilet and a full separate shower. The accommodations are designed for long range passage-making in style and comfort. Thoughtful details are obvious as you walk through this vessel. Adagio is a fine example of one of Selene's best serious blue water yachts.
