The Krogen 42 is one of the few production trawler-style cruising yachts built on a full displacement hull. As such, she displays all of the characteristics normally associated with such long-range designs including a comfortable ride, excellent seaworthiness, and the easy rolling motion typical of any soft-chined boat. The Krogen is a particularly salty-looking vessel with a distinctive profile and an upright bow. Inside, the focal point of the boat is the functional pilothouse with watch berth located a few steps up from the salon level. An extremely popular boat with experienced cruisers, she's been the subject of constant refinements over the years and remains one of the most sought-after models on the used boat market.
