Overview

About the Cal 25 & Accommodations The Cal 25 is an American built sailboat designed by C. William Lapworth as a cruiser-racer. She is a recreational keelboat predominately of fiberglass, with teak and wood trim, sloop rig and aluminum spar. The hull is thick and solid and the interior is roomy and spacious for a boat of this size. She is easy to sail and a delight to race. She is a sloop rig with a comfortable deck and working spaces. The cockpit has nice seating and steering room. The interior features a forward V-Berth with privacy door in the bow. There is a head and sink area aft of the V-Berth. Additional sleeping space is provided by the starboard side dinette settee, which has a folding table, plus a berth under/next to the companionway area. To port is another settee with pocket head room. The galley is also to port with a stainless steel sink, preparation area, storage and ice box.
