SPECIFICATIONS

Overview

The Manta catamaran was built in Florida from the late 1990s to the late 2000s and was originally designed by talented French naval architect Eric Lerouge. The Manta is unmistakably recognizable from a distance with her trademark high bows and a massively curved integrated forward crossbeam. "Eagle" is located at the Jacksonville Naval Air Station and is lovingly cared for by her original owners. Twin 30hp Volvo Penta diesels with exceptionally low hours. Newer Raymarine electronics. Master suite to port features a queen berth and private head with shower. Two guest cabins to starboard with head and shower. Special financing and cost effective dockage for active or retired military personnel. See photo section for full specifications.
