DETAILED INFORMATION

Just listed and ready to cruise the coast!

Catalina boats typically have long production runs, and Catalina is more likely to tweak and update a boat than to totally redesign it. After building 1,039 Catalina 320s dating to 1993, with few changes other than offering a shallower wing keel about halfway through the production run, the company decided it was time to bring this popular vessel solidly into the new century.

The Catalina 320 MKII has the same hull, keel, rig, and sailplan as the original boat, so it can race in one-design fleets with its older sisters.

"Flamingo" is an excellent example of the popular C320. The interior appears in bristol condition. The boat comes with many spare parts and new running rigging ready to install.

Exclusions
