Overview

Factory Hardtop Bimini w/Sail Viewing Panels

Schaefer boom furler with articulating mast track system Custom SS Arch for wind generators, solar panels, dinghy davits New Carbs (March 2021) on both Yamaha 9.9 hp Hi-Thrust Outboards Fresh Anti-Fouling Bottom Job w/Micron 66 (2021) Dual Anchor Windlasses (Lofrans and Quick) Rocna Anchor (33lb) w/Over 100 ft 3/8 inch Galvanized Chain

Designed by Alan Slater, the PDQ 36 Capella is a well-built nimble-sailing cruising cat designed for families and not for charter companies. Overall, 100 PDQ were built, making it one of the most successful cruising catamarans manufactured in North America. The PDQ 36 Capella is handsome in profile, partially due to clever styling with a cove stripe and portlights on the cabin trunk deflecting your eye from the high freeboard that is a feature of most cruising cats. The hulls are solid fiberglass below the waterline and cored with Klegacell foam above. The decks are also foam-cored, except in areas where high-load fittings are attached. Those areas are solid fiberglass. Her fixed keels make a great deal of sense and the rudders are foil shaped.
