Overview

---

This true Nautical Barn Find was a life changer for her current owners. It took them over seventeen long years of sweat, tears and thousands of man-hours to restore it from the keel up and to bring this beauty in an impeccable and concours condition. This breathtaking 1929 Hacker Craft 24' Baby Dolphin Triple Cockpit with hull # 156, exceeds the overall fit and finish of the original when she was new. Words cannot describe this unique piece of art, its a must see yourself. Lady Jane is securely stored near Amsterdam Schiphol Airport. When may we welcome you ?

Hackercraft WINS

Here's further proof of performance—performance that not alone represents flashing speed and a new type of riding grace, but a staunch dependability thoroughly tested in the crucible of competition. Here Richard Busse of Berlin imports a 26 foot Hackercraft model—powered with the Kernath "200" and in three days of grueling racing on the Templiner See, Potsdam, wins the runabout championship of Europe! Still another victory has been added to the growing list of Hackercraft stock runabout triumphs. Priced from $3150 to $5750. Write for the Hackercraft catalog.

It Pays to Buy Hacker Quality

All Hackercrafts are built under the personal supervision of Mr. Hacker in a large well equipped and spacious plant. In a great advantage for the buyer of Hacker boats is being made and put together in the same. There is no division of responsibility, no question about the practicability of any feature of design, the strength of framing, the phasing of weights or any other detail. John Hacker knows what is right in boat building better than any other man, and he is responsible for it. He has found that under other men that conditions were favorable to the actual cause or the development of serious defects.
