Overview

MAYBE is a sleek and robust 59m (193'6) agile trans-Pacific motor yacht with a cruising range of 6,570Nm and a large touch-and-go helipad, offering a sense of adventure for her guests. With her twin 2,682 HP Caterpillar engines, she has a cruising speed of 14 knots, reaching a maximum of 17 knots. Large volume interior with the possibility of conversion for more guest space. Huge outdoor areas. Cinema, spa, beach club.

The contemporary and bright interiors of this 59m (193'6) tri-deck, with a beam of 10.7m (35'), have been created by Toni Colom of Marcelo Penna Yacht Design and boast all the amenities one would expect to find on a custom-built mega yacht. In the centre, an impressive spiral staircase sweeps around a lift that connects each level. The main deck is home to a seriously spacious and inviting saloon, as well as a sophisticated more formal dining area. On the upper deck is another saloon with two separate seating areas, a cinema room, a double VIP stateroom, the bridge and captain's quarters forward. Outside is another dining area where guests can enjoy sheltered al fresco meals. Twelve guests can be comfortably accommodated in six luxurious cabins. Furthest forward of the main deck is an extremely generous full beam master stateroom with a study, walk-in wardrobe and his and her bathrooms. The remaining accommodation - two doubles and two twins - can be found on the lower deck. In addition, there are quarters for up to 16 crew members. The sundeck is complete with a gym-come-massage room including a sauna and offering incredible panoramic views. Moving out through the sliding glass doors, guests are welcomed at an outdoor bar and forward of the flybridge is a Jacuzzi surrounded by plush sun pads.
