Bluegame 62 was designed in response to a desire for large comfortable living areas combined with simplicity of use. Thanks to the Volvo Penta IPS joystick, owners can enjoy complete freedom without employing a crew. The Volvo Penta IPS power train and transmission offer the double advantage of more interior space and the highest grade of maneuverability, and with the Volvo Dynamic Positioning System (DPS) working as a "digital anchor" maintaining the position and heading of the boat with the touch of a button.

With an 18.80 m (61'6") LOA and 5,38 m (17'6") BEAM the Bluegame 62 was conceived from the desire to combine large comfortable areas with the traditional seaworthiness of all Bluegames, allowing its owner, with the help of the advanced Volvo IPS joystick and propulsion system, total freedom without the need of crew. Another big benefit of the Volvo IPS propulsion package is it allows maximum use of interior space, evidenced by the very spacious master stateroom. Equipped with the Volvo Dynamic Positioning System (DPS) working as a "digital anchor", she maintains her position and heading with the touch of a button! Graced with a very large cockpit, a walk-around protected by high edges for secure and safe operation in the open sea and ample visibility when maneuvering, thanks to the central helm station and the 360-degrees of unobstructed visibility. An uncompromised open boat with unique design, high bow, distinctive deck house and spaces for any need, including three large separate sun lounges and relaxation areas
