Broker's Comments: This 1995 Camano 31 Gnome is rare to the market ~ only a few of the 31 models were built without a flybridge. The great advantage is the additional storage available for kayaks, crab or shrimp pots; just about any additional gear may be secured to the top deck or roof top. The lower profile afforded by not having a flybridge reduces windage and allows lower bridge clearance. This Gnome is carefully maintained (passed USCG Safety Inspection 2022 - "with flying colors"!) and has many custom upgrades: salon table, cabinetry and raised teak and holly flooring in the galley, a newer mounted leather helm chair, powder-coated companionway door. There are no visible cracks in the deck and the interior is clean and bright. She is equipped with Garmin navigational equipment and safety features.

The Camano 31 trawler line is well-known in the Pacific Northwest. Many have also found their way East and through the Great Loop. This Gnome is ready to handle a wide range of conditions, she's sturdy and easy to operate whether alone or with a mate. Her unique Keel-form hull design with a deep bow, hard chine, full keel and protective skeg allows her to cut through the water with stability while keeping relatively dry. These boats feel "solid" and safe underway; add fuel efficiency and spacious accommodations, you have a beautiful, sturdy boat to enjoy your cruising dreams.
