Overview

"Jody Mae" is a 2005 Shannon Shoalsailer 35. She is well equipped and well maintained.*More photos coming soon*The Shannon Shoalsailer 35 handles well under power and is easily sailed by a shorthanded crew. In the sub-genre of beachable cruising sailboats, this boat is unique. The vessel's interior isn't compromised by keel-raising or housing mechanisms, and the generous cockpit is a true anomaly among monohulls this length. Additionally, this is the one single-hulled sailboat that could safely venture across a large span of shoal water like the Grand Bahamas Banks, or certain reaches of the Chesapeake Bay under sail.Designer: Walter Shultz, George Carter and AssociatesBuilder: Shannon Yachts - Bristol, RI
