Broker's Comments: The CHB 41 Europa-style trawler would appeal to weekend and long-range cruisers, those seeking to live aboard, or any combination. She is clean and tidy and well-equipped. Some of the specific features of this trawler yacht that I like include: - Covered walk around side decks that make tending lines and adjusting fenders straightforward. - Europa style open interior layout with good all around visibility from the helm station. - An interior rich in teak that appears in excellent condition. - The large cockpit can be used as an extended living area as it is both covered and enclosed with a removable Isinglass / canvas enclosure. - The large flybridge has a steering station, davit + tender storage, and a bimini / flybridge enclosure (currently removed for winter). - 450 gallons of fuel, which allow for cruising to Alaska from Puget Sound without the need to fuel. - A master stateroom with queen sized berth and second stateroom with bunks (which could be used for sleeping accommodation or storage). - Professionally maintained 200hp Diesel engine + 5 kw Westerbeke generator + Aquahot hydronic heater. - A lazarette capable of storing a massive amount of gear or equipment -- including a chest freezer. - Complete navigational electronics package with many redundant systems. The former long-term owner of this vessel is said to be a professional mariner, and he appears to have applied his professional training and skills towards the upkeep of this CHB 41, as this yacht appears ship-shape! If you are looking for a trawler in the 40 ft size range, that is ready for adventure or ready to move aboard, then you should take a close look at this CHB 41 Europa trawler.
