SPECIFICATIONS

Overview

The 53 mt Panorama super-yacht is designed with an innovative hybrid e-MOTION propulsion system composed of two DIESEL MAN engines, 4 variable speed generators, 2 permanent magnets electric engines and a generous pack of lithium polymer batteries.

The system provides different ways of use: ● The main Diesel engines and electrical alternators allow for energy distribution to all the onboarding facilities when generators are shut down, and let batteries recharge while navigating. ● Variable speed generators adapt their speed in response to the requests of the ship's load, keeping consumption low. ● Thanks to the lithium polymer batteries, it is possible to power all the yacht's services and comfort features for around 8 hours producing zero gas emissions, no acoustic pollution and in total absence of vibrations. Additionally, the batteries allow the ship to access ports in "electric mode" and perform the mooring manoeuvres with main engines and generators shut off. ● The "peak shaving" function of the batteries enables the yacht to avoid the insertion and disconnection of the second generator for short periods during the highest loading peaks. Furthermore, the function can temporarily hide the absence of the "taken by land", which happens frequently and therefore avoid unpleasant black-outs.
